Utah Loan and Trust Building.

THE WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

ANOTHER FIRST-CLASS BUILD-ING NOW IN USE.

Was Put Up In 54 Days, Has Nine Rooms and All Modern Appliances.

For the rapid construction of a big building and the placing of ponderous machinery, the construction of the su-gar factory has besten all records in machinery, the construction of the sugar factory has beaten all records in Utah, if not in the entire west. There has also been another piece of construction work in Ogden during the past summer, which, though, is remarkable both for speedy and successful work. The building is the Washington school building, which now ranks with the Madison and Grant schools in size and convenience. The work was ordered done by the list of September, and the work was done in just 54 days, including Sundays. When work was begun there was a brick building with two ground floor rooms and an adobe structure of one room, the whole forming a T-shaped structure. The building was planned according to a unique style. The brick portion had windows about five and the ceiling was 17 feet from the floor. Two rooms were built above the old brick portion and four other rooms, two upstairs and two downstells, were added. The old brick rooms were remodeled, modern windows being put in and the floor elsevated. The hallways are roomy and, according to the teachers, excellently adapted for the forming of lines and the marching of pupils. Between the two rooms on each end are convenient cloak rooms, and these, with the hallway running east and west, form a cross, making it easy for pupils to form lines and march out into the hallway. A modern system of heating and ventilation has been put in. The stairway. A modern system of heating and ventilation has been put in. The stairwentilation has been put in. The stairways and landing are roomy and convenient, and the rooms are well lighted and have all modern appointments.

F. C. Woods was the architect in charge of the work, and Matt Gillis was the contractor. The cost of construction was about $3,000. The teachers in the building are: J. M. Bishop, principal; Rosecoe Breeden, Misses Baker, Ballard, Gourlay, Couch, Neilsen and Thomas.

President of the Southern States Mission In Town. Ben E. Rich, in charge of the south from Idaho, have been removed, and the sombereo-like hat exchanged for a derby of almost infinitesimal rim. The cut and color of his clothes were likewise altered, and consequently, as he did not disclose his identity, except to a few, his wanderings about Ogden were practically incognito. He first ment to the home of Senator Frank J. Cannon, and the senator was immediately sent for. After a somewhat lengthy conflab the two went down to the county clerks office and chatted awhile with Newt Farr. He said the missionary work in the south is O. K. and that he came home to see his folks and incidentally to look after some missionary work here. He laughed a good deal about the way folks passed him on the streets without knowing him, and said he was going to idaho Monday night, and asked to be kept posted about primaries, conventions, candidates and such things.

Democratic County Committee

The Democratic county committee elected at the recent convention, met last evening and organized by electing E. M. Conroy, chairman; R. T. Harris, secretary and James Horroy, treasurer. The committee was represented by all its members but two, viz: Hunter and Blair. Mr. Weber introduced a couple of resolutions, one providing that no member of the committee should be a candidate for office, and another that no member of the committee should participate actively in the county convention and primaries, nor be a delegate to the convention. The latter resolution was voted down and action on the other was deferred.

The matter of issuing the call was postponed till a future meeting to be called by the chairman.
